

Walking Down That Road Once Again

words & music by John Dandrea, 09/2018

verse 1      Walking down that road once again I tend to go that way now and then and if I never look down, at these feet upon the ground I may not ever leave again, my friend

verse 2      Walking down that road once again when you need a gentle touch just tell me when and you know you catch my eye, you blush and I know why - let's kiss and never say goodbye, my friend chorus        when God made such a helpmate as you, my lovely one I know my home's with you, my search is finally done you're the one that I love, my partner and my friend - and we're walking down that road once again

verse 3      Walking down that road once again you make me stop and wonder, now and then and if I never look down, at these feet upon the ground I'll sail across the sea with you, my friend

chorus        when God made such a helpmate as you, my lovely one
I know my home's with you, my search is finally done
you're the one that I love, my partner and my friend -
and we're walking down that road once again

ending        walking down that road once again walking down that road once again